

Nurses, are you new to primary health care, or want to mentor someone who is?

Whatever your age and whatever stage of your nursing journey you're at, APNA's here to help nurses flourish.

APNA's Transition to Practice Program is a 12-month education, support and mentoring program for nurses new to primary health care.

We are looking for:

- Nurses new to primary health care, both recently graduated and experienced nurses
- Experienced primary health care nurses to become clinical and professional mentors.

The Transition to Practice Program has been funded by the Australian Government Department of Health

Applications close Friday 28 June.

Don't let this opportunity be the one that got away, find out more at:
www.apna.asn.au/transitiontopractice

apna
Supporting nurses in primary health care